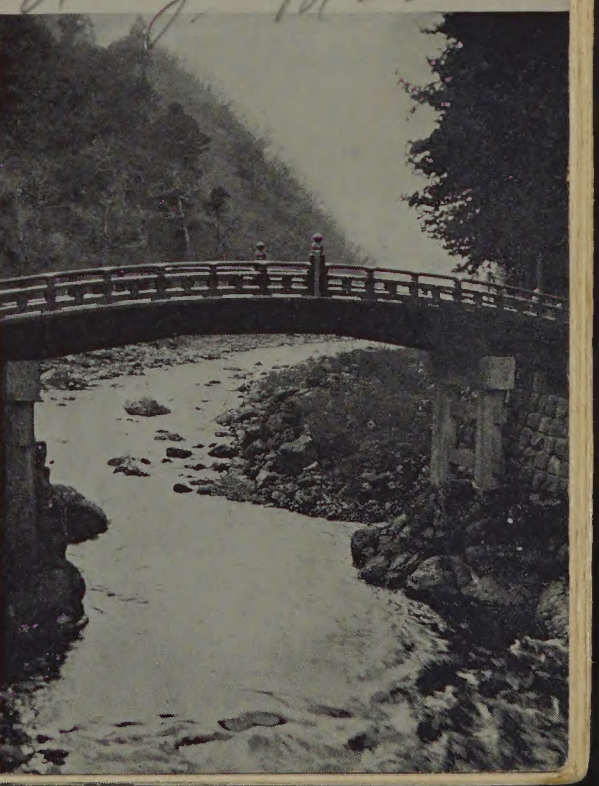
DEDICATION

NOT as arrogant patrons, nor yet as peaceful guardians; but as common disciples, as fellow worshipers at the shrine of beauty, which is art—we dedicate this book to the Orient.



FOREWORD

I DEEM it a very real privilege to write a few words in commendation of the interest exhibited by the students of Lincoln High School in the Orient and its affairs. We have in the Orient a market for our goods and a new world of delight and profit for our travelers and tourists. But we have also a wonderful opportunity for the extension of our influence in the vanguard of the higher civilization. Our obvious responsibility for the peace of the Pacific carries with it the duty of understanding, not merely the problems of the Orient in general, but those problems especially as they concern the era of goodwill which it is our mission to hasten. Ignorant prejudice, or even ignorant sympathy, may easily be mischievous. But an understanding which looks at the difficulties of the Oriental nations as well as those of our own land is bound in time to lead to the co-operation which is needed to make the Pacific worthy of its name.

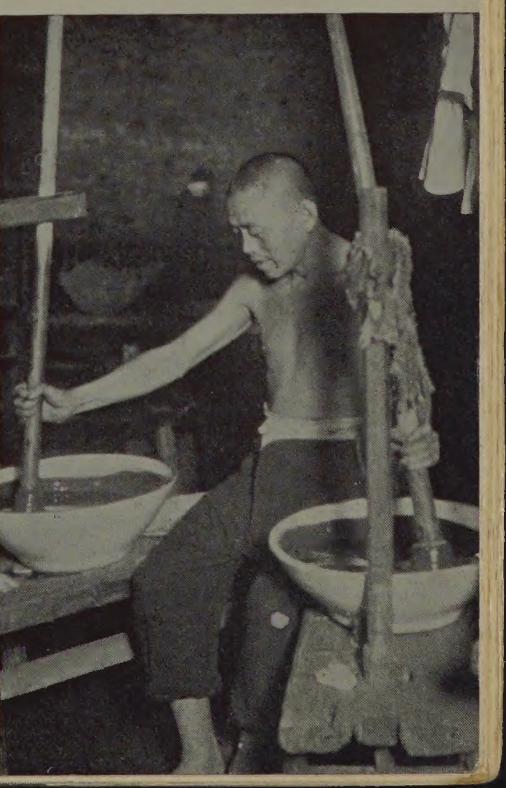
The students of our High Schools may render great service to the rising generation in working towards this desired end. It will not diminish our love and loyalty to America to know something of the history, institutions, and culture of China and Japan. On the contrary, we shall gain a more grateful appreciation of the privileges our country has in the past enjoyed and of the opportunities which lie ahead.

Herbert H. Gowen

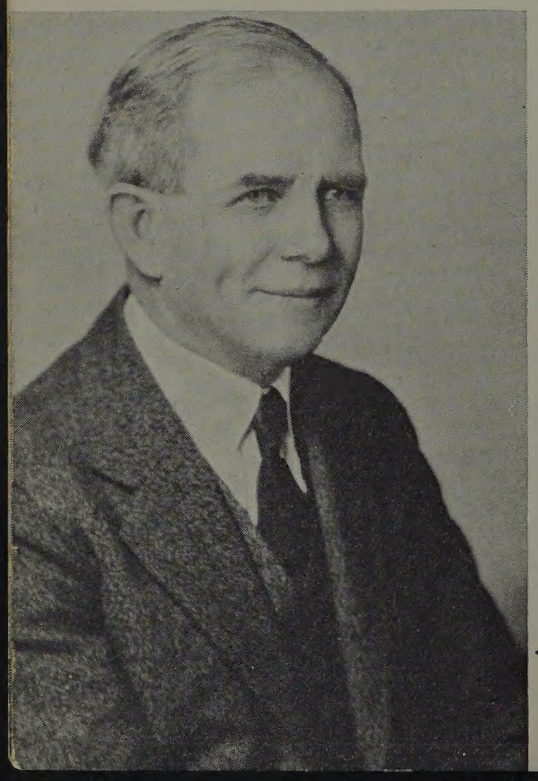


PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

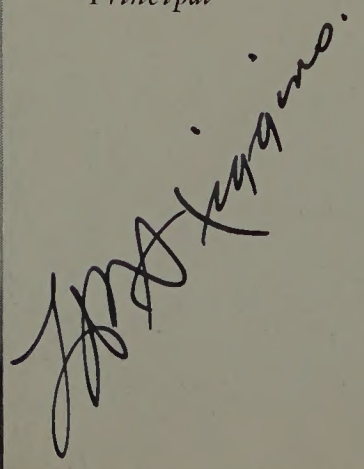
THE past year has been one of substantial progress and achievement at Lincoln.

Additions to our building and equipment, made available only a year ago, have proven ample to care for an influx of students which has brought Lincoln into first place in point of size.

In athletics, debate, dramatics, and all our varied student activities, Lincoln has given good account of itself. At the same time, our recent graduates, winning high scholastic honors on our University campus, have proved that scholarship is not neglected at Lincoln.



LEROY M. HIGGINS
Principal



FROM THE FACULTY

If Lincoln graduates are imbued in some small measure with tolerance, sportsmanship, and humanism; if they change the high scholastic record made in school to a record of achievements made in the business and professional worlds; if their training in any way has broadened these students, made them more thoughtful of their community: then, we of the faculty may feel that our work is not sterile, for we shall have been the catalyst that transmutes the cultures and the wisdom of the past to the philosophy of the future.

Daniel J. Lothrop
Vice-Principal

HONOR SOCIETY

The Lincoln Honor Society, sponsored by Miss Lutie Cheatham, is increasing steadily, gaining a greater following each semester until now its ranks have reached the multitudinous proportions of two hundred fifty members. But this does not mean that the days of dim-bulbs and dumb doras are necessarily things of the past and that erudites have filled their places. No—for consider—two hundred fifty may sound like a lot; but when you place it beside the great number of students attending our illustrious school, some twenty-two or twenty-three hundred, the smaller number loses a great deal of its significance—for it is, in reality, a mere tenth of the whole.

The seniors head the procession, having an enrollment of nearly one hundred members, which is approximately forty-one per cent of the total. This is an exceptional record, for it means that their scholastic standing was high not only in their senior year but throughout their entire high school course. A senior torch pin cannot be won in a term but is the fruit of four years at "hard labor." The foundation must be laid in the freshman year and additions built each succeeding year. This is the price of the torch pin.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

The sophomores followed the seniors—forming about thirty-seven per cent of the whole, while the juniors brought up the rear with twenty-two per cent.

Honor pins are not readily obtainable, as may be gathered from the fact that the greater part of the student body haven't them. Due credit should, therefore, be given to all those possessing the distinctive little pins, for they represent diligence and hard study. Every year an honor assembly is given to pay tribute to these scholars. In compiling these hard earned points, an A counts as 4; B as 3; C as 2; and D as 1. Sophomores must have 24 points; juniors, 50; and seniors, 78. At the end of the year, if a senior has amassed 108 points—the pin is his. Just think—a gold torch pin, "for keeps," for 108 measley little points. Of course, it means study—but it's worth working for.

SENIOR CLASS

Amid clanging bells and thundering hoof beats in strode the five hundred—the nineteen hundred thirty-second division of the Lincoln Hi brigade. Ably marshalled by their great commanders, ably sponsored by their tried advisers. Came the first engagement—the memorable attack of October 30. Junior reinforcements—music, punch, and revelry. Forward march! 1931 retreats before the onslaught of 1932, and plans are laid for the final conquest. Senior week. Monday, the commissary department dispenses rations; Tuesday, the class publication—Silver and Wine—burst like shrapnel on the battle front; Wednesday, is the call to arms; Thursday, the dance resplendent; and Friday, triumph supreme, the Senior Play.

The turmoil subsides. Except for the flare of torch pins, all is quiet on the western front. Diligence, study, exams—graduation.

COMMENCEMENT

We usually associate the word "commencement" with the completion of our school course, with the end of study and strife. But we are blinded by the glamour and excitement of youth at graduation; we are eager-eyed, expectant. Only too soon "the wool is pulled from our eyes," and we begin to glean the truth, that commencement marks the very beginning of life—struggle, survival, and finally success, or, as the case may be, failure. Commencement, in many of our lives, marks the turning point. We ultimately assume a greater self-reliance and confidence; no longer are we content to hang to somebody's apron strings, but we must feel that self-satisfying independence. However, we need not seek life, for it just is; it faces everywhere although we may not be aware of it. Generally, it is after commencement when the festivities are over that we first meet life. Commencement is not an empty gesture but is expressive of something far greater, far more significant. It is our adieu to our Alma Mater—our greeting to life.

Helen Brown '32

CLASS DAY

THE big game is over, all over now but the shouting, the hand clasps, and the good-byes. The class poet ignores the fumbles and lauds our touchdowns. The game is over, and we have won. Don't forget your goloshes and diplomas. But one can't take everything! Happy memories, skipped classes, hamburgers, and boy-friends, the fountain of knowledge, the understanding of teachers, peanut shells, even your locker partner's comb—these we leave to be disposed of by the class will.

And what will become of us—the players? A crystal ball, a few leaves in a teacup, the delicate lines of the hand—all these predict a glorious future for each and every one. May the signs be read aright.

Hark! the band plays—sweet strains of music fill the air. It is our swan song, our farewell, the class song of 1932.

JUNIOR CLASS

Hail the budding seniors, juniors in full bloom! Verse does not do justice to this order of the violet and the primrose. Their colors pronounce them shy, and shy they are as they peer timidly about them. These modest little violets and primroses cautiously scan the halls for bold, bad seniors lurking in the shadows before tripping lightly to the recreation parlor (the gym) to practice the graceful art of Terpsichore. Shyly the little flowers trip to and fro. "May we never be wallflowers," they chant in accord, "but always violets and primroses."

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Surely appearances are deceiving—that cannot be a balloon—a balloon as large as that? Impossible. Hurry, James, closer. A big blown up, read-to-burst balloon—no—it moves. It's a sophomore! Short pants days are over, and the sophomore has come into his own.

Fearful lest they be mistaken as frosh, the sophomores have assumed an air of sophistication and braggadocio. Upperclassmen, impressed by this brave front and the gastronomical attractions, swarm to their parties as flies to the syrup jug.

A little more applause—a little more hot air and pop! Where is the sophomore? Gone, and in his place, a modest junior.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Peekaboo! Who's there? Come to mamma, little Snookums. Pattycake for the lady. That's a good boy. If Snookums drinks his milk like a little man and eats all his algebraic spinach and carrots, pretty soon he'll grow up to be a great big sophomore—and then he can have a kiddie-kar and geometry and ice cream cones and just lots of good things. Now run away, dear—can't you see mamma's busy? Bye-bye, little Snookums—bye-bye.

MUSIC

OUTSTANDING among the various departments of the school is that of music. Aside from study groups there are the glee clubs, band, orchestra, sight-singing and key-board harmony classes, quartet, nonette, and a Music Club to which anyone may belong.

Due to its many and varied fields of activity and to the pleasure afforded by the study, many students are attracted to musical subjects. And having taken one course in music, they generally come back for another. Such was the case of the sight-singing classes, which have swelled so the past year that Lincoln now boasts the largest classes of that kind in the city.

Contributing materially to this musical urge are the modernly installed, acoustically designed music rooms—supposely built to be soundproof but failing sadly in their purpose. Then, too, there is the library at the central warehouse, to which the music departments of all the high schools are given access. Here are kept hundreds of dollars' worth of music, instruments, and other things to do with music. With such excellent facilities plus ultracompetent instructors, Miss Pidduck, Miss Charlton, and Mr. Pitzer, the popularity of the music department is not to be wondered at.

CURTAIN CLUB

The Curtain Club, whose purpose is to encourage good drama and to give members audience experience, has been most active during the past year, under Miss Aimee McConihe, sponsor.

Meetings, held every month in Room 304, included interesting programs, usually featuring short playlets or illustrations of work connected with the stage. Although members took part in all programs, guests were often invited, who sometimes spoke to the Club. Among these was Miss Dorothy Snowden, well known dramatic director on the Pacific coast. Several plays, presented this year before the Club by members, gave to many, experience; to others, entertainment. Early in the spring, the organization sponsored a short dramatization before the school in assembly, "The Saving Sense," given in observance of Thrift Week.

The Club makeup committee, together with like organizations from other high schools, handled stage makeup for the Washington Pageant, in which many Lincoln students took part. In addition, the committee lent the same aid when the Opera was given in March.

Officers this year were Lucille Gordon, president; Maxine Martin, vice-president; Bernice Henton, secretary; Bernice Nolting, treasurer; Frank Wittenberg, sergeant-at-arms; and Patricia Goodchild, makeup-mistress.

To be allowed membership, one must have passing grades and must be willing to enact some characterizations before the club.

MUSIC CLUB

THE Music Club, organized to promote interest in music and to afford audience to its members, has become the largest of such groups active at Lincoln. In the five years of its existence the membership, including all those in the music department, has grown in number from a mere half dozen to more than one hundred sixty this spring.

Meetings were held every two weeks, usually on Monday afternoons, in 113, the room of Miss Marjorie Pidduck, sponsor of the organization. Officers who headed the group included Frank Compton, president; Marjorie Brigham, vice-president; Art Blom, secretary; and Dorothy Kincaid, treasurer. Although outside artists were often asked to take part in the gatherings to provide a portion of the program, school talent was more frequently featured.

One of the major enterprises of the club this year was a lecture-recital presenting Odessa Sterling, pianist. The entertainment, open to all, was held in the auditorium here, February 29. American composition chiefly comprised the concert.

It is the night of the fourth of December in the year 1932. The orchestra is just completing the overture, and the curtain is about to rise on the premier performance of "The Romantic Age." The audience is motionless as eager spectators breathlessly await what the rising curtain is to reveal. "Oh's" and "ah's" penetrate the atmosphere as expectant eyes rest on the lovely, white clad heroine.

That eccentric looking middle-aged lady on the sofa must be Melisande's mother, Mrs. Knowle, and that sweet looking girl on the settee is Melisande's counsin, Jane.

It's really a shame that Melisande is so indifferent to Bobby Coote, especially as he is so devoted and as Mrs. Knowle is so set on making the match; but Melisande will be satisfied only with a knight dressed in blue and silver.

Who is that—it can't be—it is—a handsome young man dressed in blue and silver. How romantic he looks! Oh, but he is telling that jolly old gentleman, Mr. Knowle, that he is only on his way to a costume party and has come to borrow some gas. Gervase has returned for his handkerchief and is about to depart when Melisande enters by another door. One breathless moment, and then they bow to each other across the moonlit room. And the curtain comes down on the first act of the "Romantic Age."

What a lovely wood is the setting of the second act! After stating that his name is Ern and that he's " 'ad 'is breakfast," the funny, stupid little boy, who is fairly gurgling with mirthful appreciation of Gervase's picturesque garb, departs to obtain something for the famished Gervase. And what an interesting man Peddler Susan is with his ideas on marriage and its bliss!

At last here is Melisande. What a perfect place for a rendezvous, and what a charming and romantic picture Melisande and Gervase make.

The curtain has risen on the third act, and it is very evident that the object of Bobby's devotion is now Jane, while Gervase has found it necessary to persuade Melisande that she can be happy with him even if he isn't the prince she thought him.

One more performance, and the "Romantic Age," a production of the Class of '32, goes on the records of Lincoln as one of the most successful senior plays ever presented in the school.

JUNIOR PLAYS

"THANK YOU, DOCTOR"

"WITH THE HELP OF PIERRETTE"

HERE is something to be recorded in the history of Lincoln. Something new and wholly different has happened this year; something which we hope will become a revered tradition at Lincoln and play as large a part in our social calendar as the Opera or the Senior Play. The Juniors have surprised everyone in their recent presentation of April 5, The Junior Matinee, consisting of two one-act plays, a mysterious comedy, "Thank You, Doctor," and a delightful fantasy, "With the Help of Pierrette." The Class of '33 has shown an exceptional display of talent in this entertainment. Marjorie Tilton, Georgia Shilos, Christy Martin, Mildred Lokken, Charles Kambe, Kenyon Coryell, Art Church, Dick Dallegher, and John Selan have surprised everyone and give promise of more highly developed talent next year.

The scene of "Thank You, Doctor" is laid in the office of a young brain specialist, Dr. Gurney, by name. A young woman, Mrs. Norman Lester, enters and tearfully describes the case of her younger brother whose mind is deranged. But the strange part of his affliction is that he appears sane on every subject except one, that of pearls. He believes that someone has stolen a valuable pearl necklace from him. After some discussion the doctor reënters his office. You are then shown the true character of Mrs. Lester. She is not a patient, she—Oh! the door-bell rings. Opening the door, she ushers into the waiting room a young jewelry clerk, bringing a string of pearls that Dr. Gurney's niece had sent up to the office. Pretending to be Dr. Gurney's niece (for it was she who had ordered the pearls sent) Mrs. Lester slips into a side room on the pretence of showing the pearls to the doctor. The lunatic now enters and frightens Cort, the young clerk, nearly out of his wits. Imagine a man yelling at the top of his voice, "Wheels! Skyrockets! Beautiful little golden-haired apes!" and then disappearing as quickly as he came. The doctor, upon seeing Cort and hearing him ask, "Did she like the pearls?" immediately believes that he is Mrs. Lester's brother, who is mentally deranged on the subject of pearls. Then the action begins, ending with a free-for-all fight and finally in a dramatic finish in which the lunatic drags in Mrs. Lester, proudly displaying his detective badge.

The scene changes. The interior of a cobbler's shop is shown with Harlequin busy at his bench. Dainty Columbine enters, then Punchinello, her father, cruel, miserly, and tyrannic. Harlequin must finish his apprenticeship tonight, and Punchinello rightly suspects that Columbine plans to go away with him. "With the Help of Pierette," an exceedingly witty and clever little dancer, they successfully elude the traps set by Old Punchinello; and the two lovers are free to follow the West Wind to happiness.

The Junior Class wishes to thank the Lincoln Student Body for their support and promises in return their enthusiastic backing of the activities of the other classes. And so to the Class of '34 the juniors pass on this tradition which they have initiated and hope that each successive class will receive just as much pleasure and benefit from it as they have.

A Word From the Coach

The biggest bugaboo a coach has in his effort to develop a team is that of making the individual subordinate himself for the benefit of the group. Probably more teams have been ruined by selfish desires on the part of certain individuals than through poor coaching, training and conditioning.

Faced with the problem of developing a team that had lost sixteen lettermen by graduation and of creating a "team spirit," Lincoln's football season was not a howling success from the standpoint of victories.

Out of the muddle of disastrous early season there developed a spirit of unity and team loyalty that I have seldom seen on winning teams and never on a losing one. In the face of the toughest "breaks" the team fought from yardage line to yardage line, never giving ground until each and every man had given his best.

To such fine fighters as Bob McKinstry, Howie Ellis, Fred Wingarten, Bill Payne, and Shorty Warren, Lincoln can give highest honors. Every member of the squad was close behind these leaders; and when Lincoln had finally crossed an opponent's goal line, these boys felt as proud of their achievement as did the champions.

Remember the team of 1931 as the hardest, cleanest fighters that have repreesnted Lincoln on the gridiron in recent years.

The Coach

Howard Ellis | Jim Neander | Bob McKinstry Captain | Claude Hollowell | Ron Ingersoll

FOOTBALL

With only six lettermen and three of those regulars, the Lincoln eleven failed to make any showing this season, losing four, winning one, and tying one out of six games played. (The first, with Garfield, was finally won by a forfeit.) Then showing wonderful improvement, the Railsplitters tied Cleveland 0-0 and lost heartbreaking games to Queen Anne and Ballard. In the Queen Anne mix the Lynx scored for the only touchdown of the year when Frank Shinabarger crossed the Grizzly goal line in the third period. Ingersoll scored the try-for-point on a pass.

Bob McKinstry was probably the outstanding man in the backfield for the Abes during the pennant race. Bob's head work and natural ability made him a hard man to beat in any game. On the line Howard Ellis was outstanding, playing a wonderful driving game. Both of these men are seniors. Frank Shinabarger, another senior, played remarkably well for the Lynx. Others who stood out were Risley, Hollowell, Smart, Payne, Warren, Powell, and Ingersoll.

Although the Lynx ended on the bottom of the heap this year, greater things are expected next season. Quite a number of lettermen are expected back next year around whom a football machine will be formed. In the backfield Ronald Ingersoll, Bob Smart, and Jim Neander will return to play next fall. These backs are fast and slippery and should help build up a tricky offense.

A very strong line, consisting of Don Nelson, Marvin Risley, Bill Stewart, Kay Bell, Bill Payne, Carl Eckard, Leonard Warren, Jim Robinson, and Floyd Arwine, may be expected back next season.

Kay Bell | Tom Powell | Frank Shinabarger | Bill Stewart | Jack Goudie

Lincoln Wins by Forfeit

It took about six plays to prove that the Lynx eleven was outclassed; it was Garfield's ball game. In the first quarter of play Lincoln possessed the ball but once, on which occasion Brown was forced to kick. In the second quarter Lincoln showed a little improvement in having the ball twice, Brown punting on both occasions. Lincoln's recovering Anderson's fumble checked a Bulldog touchdown march. The half ended just as Lincoln recovered the ball on her own twenty-six yard line, with the score favoring the Bulldogs 6-0. In the third quarter the Purple and White was forced to punt. With its being Lincoln's ball on her own twenty-yard stripe, she was able to make first down, only to lose the ball by a costly fumble. Taking advantage of her opportunity, Garfield in a series of line plunges and end runs was able to score. By blocking Brown's punt in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs were again successful in scoring. Grey, scooping up Brown's blocked punt, ran twenty yards for the final score. In spite of the overwhelming score Lincoln technically won the game because of the participation of an ineligible Garfield player in the game.

Lincoln 0—Franklin 18

Lincoln was engulfed by the Franklin Green Wave with a roar of 18-0, and Callin, the Quaker fullback, was the cause of most of the noise. Though the game marked the third straight defeat, none can deny that the Lynx eleven didn't play for all they had. The first period of play was anybody's ball game, with the Lynx putting up a stiff defense. Callin's 35-yard run in the second quarter marked the game's first score. The Green Wave again scored when Callin made a spectacular 40-yard run for a touchdown. The final score was marked when Collins carried the ball from the 12-yard line across the goal. Hollowell's returning the Franklin kickoff 40 yards marked the longest Lynx gain. McKinstry was the principal backfield man to gain yardage. It was a much improved Lincoln team that entered the field that Saturday, and Franklin was well aware of the fact that they had some tough opposition during the game.

Fred Weingarten | Dave Bossert | Bill Payne | Jim Robinson | Marvin Risley

Lincoln 0—Broadway 12

Proving that the "dope sheet" is seldom right, the Bengals crushed Lincoln to the rhythm of 12-0. Broadway, predicted to be one of the weaker teams of the season, proved to be a capable pennant winner. The game's outstanding star was Les Briggs, who scored both of the Tigers' touchdowns. The first scoring was done in the second quarter in the form of a trick pass from Pappas. The other score was encouraged in the third quarter when Lincoln fumbled the pigskin on her own 35-yard stripe. Lincoln was undoubtedly weakened by the loss of Papajani, who was out because of an injured shoulder. The Railsplitters made several long gains by splitting the Bengal line, but Lincoln's pass offense wasn't the exhibition that Broadway staged. Papajani was replaced by Ellis, who played a bang-up game at center. The fact that Lincoln completed twelve first downs to the Bengals' eight shows that the Lynx were never, at any time of the game, out of competition.

Lincoln 0—Cleveland 0

After losing their first three games, the Railsplitters came out with a greatly improved ball club and tied the Cleveland Eagles 0-0. During the first period the Woodchoppers had their only chance to score when the ball rested on the Cleveland two-yard line. This chance was lost, however, on a fumble which was recovered by the men from Georgetown. The passing attack of the Eagles was the main thing that kept the Lynx at bay. Several of these tosses were good for twenty yards or more. As soon as the pass barrage let up, the Abes gained but seemed to lack the punch needed for scoring.

From the standpoint of the fan the Cleveland game might be labeled a disappointment, for it was thought the Railsplitters would come off with a victory. This was due to the thought that Cleveland had always been beaten and should continue to be walked on; but this was not the case, for the Eagles had a strong team in many ways.

Floyd Arwine | Leonard Warren | Bob Smart | Don Nelson | Carl Eckard | Art Church. Manager

Lincoln 7—Queen Anne 12

Playing their best game of the season so far, the Lynx lost a heartbreaker to the Queen Anne Grizzlies in a two touchdowns to one decision. The first score came in the second quarter when after a series of line bucks and end runs the Grizzlies scored and, not making the try-for-point, made the score 6-0. Lincoln's chance came in the third quarter with but a few minutes to play. To start it off Tom Powell intercepted a pass and on the next play Shinabarger went off tackle for twelve yards, putting the ball on the 30-yard stripe. Then with line bucks the ball was put on the Hilltoppers' one-yard line as the quarter ended. On the first play of the fourth quarter Shinabarger went over for the Lynx' first and only touchdown of the year. Ingersoll scored the try-for-point, putting Lincoln ahead 7-6. Then came the tragedy, for with victory at hand, a Railsplitter kick was blocked, putting the Grizzlies in a scoring position. They took advantage of this, and the game ended Queen Anne 12-Lincoln 7.

Lincoln 0—Ballard 2

Playing through three quarters of a game which looked as if it would end in a scoreless tie, the Lynx again were compelled to bow in defeat. The Ballard Beavers defeated the Abes in the last quarter. After playing through three quarters with neither side having an advantage, the break that decided the game came when a bad pass from center to Shinabarger was recovered on the eight-yard line. On the next play the ball was fumbled, and the attempt to pick it up and kick it was blocked. It was recovered behind the goal line by McKinstry, but the damage was done, and the Beavers led by two points. Ballard again threatened as the fourth quarter drew to a close. A long pass from Malden to Beatte put the ball close to the Lynx goal. Then on a series of bucks and end runs it looked like a Ballard score, but the gun designating the end of the game ended Ballard hopes.

BASKETBALL

After winning the title for three successive years, Lincoln lost the honor to Garfield, who suffered only one defeat. Losing six games and winning six, Lincoln finished the season by tying Broadway and Queen Anne for fourth place.

This year's squad was built around Bob McKinstry, captain, who played guard. McKinstry was the team's high point man, scoring a total of eighty-one points. For the second consecutive year Bob represented Lincoln at guard on the mythical All-City team. Bill Nelson, the Lynx center, and Ken McClelland, forward, were greatly missed when they graduated in mid-year. Arnie Faust and Dar Haffner, two juniors, played as regulars all the season. Billy Lawrence is another bright prospect for next season's hoop squad. John Lewis, center, was handicapped a great deal by injuries but played a nice game. Wilson, the team's most versatile player, was a hard worker and could be placed in any position in a pinch. Roy Winder was another player handicapped by sickness; he played a good consistent game throughout the season. Al Burink and Chuck Cowman were good pinch-hit players. Al's few minutes in the Garfield game nearly changed the Bulldogs' victory percentage.

BASKETBALL

Al Burink | Woodrow Wilson | Chuck Cowman | Roy Winder | John Lewis | John Mills (Mgr.)

John Mills, head manager, was assisted by two managers, Husseman and Federspiel.

Lincoln 16—Garfield 30

Unable to stop Pete Gray, the Lynx tallied only sixteen points to the Bulldogs' thirty. Lincoln was unable to hit their stride during the game. McClelland and Faust looked good for Lincoln.

Lincoln 24—Franklin 23

Roy Winder's successfully scoring in the last few minutes of play gave Lincoln the narrow victory of one point. The first three periods were easily Lincoln's. But Franklin's rally in the last few minutes gave the game an aspect of a first-class thriller.

Lincoln 16—Ballard 25

Holding Lincoln to one point in the third period and five in the fourth, the Beavers stepped away from the Lynx to win the struggle 25-16. McClelland, high point man, looked mighty nice as did Faust and McKinstry.

Lincoln 21—Cleveland 17

Hitting their title stride, the Lynx quintet outscored the Eagles to the tune of 21-17. With McClelland, Nelson, and McKinstry sinking their shots, the Lynx managed to stay in the lead the entire game.

Bill Lawrence | Bob McKinstry | Bill Nelson | Arnold Faust | Darwin Haffner | Ken McClelland

Lincoln 22—Roosevelt 14

Entertaining the Rough Riders on her own floor, the Lynx five drubbed Roosevelt to the decisive score of 22-14. McKinstry led the Lynx quintet with eight counters.

Lincoln 39—West Seattle 10

The Lincoln basketeers battered the weak West Seattle squad to the tune of 39-10. The Indians could not keep sufficient pace to stop McKinstry and Faust from tallying 17 and 10 counters respectively.

Basketball—Second Half

Lincoln 20—Ballard 32

The Lynx took their second beating from Ballard in the Beaver gym. Jim Sesby and Don Taintor were responsible, scoring 13 and 10 points respectively. Dar Haffner scored 9 counters for the Lynx.

Lincoln 31—Cleveland 21

The Railsplitters again trounced the Cleveland Eagles in a game where the Lynx were at no time in danger. Arnold Faust went on a scoring spree in the second half to score 14 points.

SECOND TEAM BASKETBALL

Lincoln 24—Roosevelt 43

The Lynx were taken down by Teds in latter's gym, largely because of the work of Gannon and Hofeditz, who scored 18 and 12 points respectively. Bill Lawrence stole the show for the Lynx with 6 counters.

Lincoln 21—Garfield 24

Pete Gray with his 15 points was largely responsible for the defeat of the Lynx at the hands of Garfield in the Railsplitter gym. Al Burink's last minute scoring was outstanding for the Lynx.

Lincoln 24—Franklin 25

After making a slow start, the Lynx put on a great rally in the Quaker gym only to be beaten out in the last minute by one point. Wilson led the Railsplitters with seven points.

Lincoln 38—West Seattle 13

The Lynx were able to close the basketball season of 1931-32 with a win when they trounced the West Seattle quintet in the Railsplitter gym. Bob McKinstry was high scorer with 10 points.

BASEBALL

BASEBALL

To date, the Lincoln nine, with eight lettermen back, has not had what might be called a flying start; but each game has showed improvement.

The season opened for the Railsplitters at West Seattle, where the Indians walked away on the long end of a 5-3 score. The next three games ended in the same disastrous way for the Lynx. The Franklin Quakers took a fairly easy affair when they won 8-1. Following this, came the best game so far, when the Ballard tossers took a fairly well played game 7-3. Then in probably the wildest game yet seen the Lynx blew an early lead to the Garfield Eastsiders and lost after a depserate rally in the ninth, 15-10.

In the latest game to date, that with Queen Anne, the Lynx broke through in a big way when they won a hard hitting fracas 17-7. Ray Odegard pitched for the Lynx, allowing only five hits.

The Lynx had eight lettermen back this season and were figured to start things right off; but somehow the dope was upset, putting the Abes in a cellar position instead of well toward the top.

In the outfield so far this season have played McKinstry, Faust, Warren, Robinson, and Hinkleman. Lawrence, Platts, Haffner, Lewis, and Vallquist have played most of the time on the inner grass, with Hanson and Cloyd subbing. On the mound are found Harty, Odegard, Lewis, and Juvet, with Sisk and McCrosson acting as backstops.

TRACK TEAM

TRACK

The fact that Garfield won from the Lincoln tracksters with 55⅓ points to Lincoln's 44 in the first meet of the season by no means shows that the Lynx squad is weak this year.

Bretland easily dominated the sprints and promises many more counters before the season is over. Rusty March, although a junior, seriously threatens the all-city record in the 880. Both he and Bretland will bear watching this season.

Jones and Powell seem to be contesting for the 440 honors. In the opening meet Powell placed second for Lincoln.

Ted Dodge and Jack Forbes, both seniors, represent the broad jump. Dodge placed second in the meet with Garfield and Franklin.

Lander's placing first in the high jump is a promising factor. Phair, a sophomore, proved his ability by establishing a new sophomore record at Lincoln.

Ernie Tomlin's capturing first place in the pole vault greatly upset the dope sheet—watch him. Warren Dundin, a soph, has done close to 10 feet so far this season.

The relay team in order of their running consists of Jones, Powell, Davis, and Bretland.

Kennedy and Menny, both seniors, are strongly contesting the discus event, while, to date, Menny is number one man for the shot put with Ellis seriously threatening his position.

GOLF

GOLF

LINCOLN's golf team has so far displayed championship possibilities, winning five matches with but one setback. After winning four consecutive victories, the Lynx divot diggers were upset by Broadway in a close battle, 12½ to 11½.

The Railsplitters scored a decisive win over West Seattle, 20½ to 3½, in the first match. This was followed by a 22½ to 1½ rout over the Ballard Beavers. Franklin was the next victim, 15 to 9, and Queen Anne bowed before the raging Lynx, 20½ to 3½. Then Broadway caught Lincoln napping and handed their old rivals their first defeat. The Lynx came back, however, and took Garfield 14½ to 9½.

The two remaining matches are with Cleveland and Roosevelt. The Eagles at the present time are in a tie with the Lynx, while the Rough Riders are so far undefeated and resting in first place.

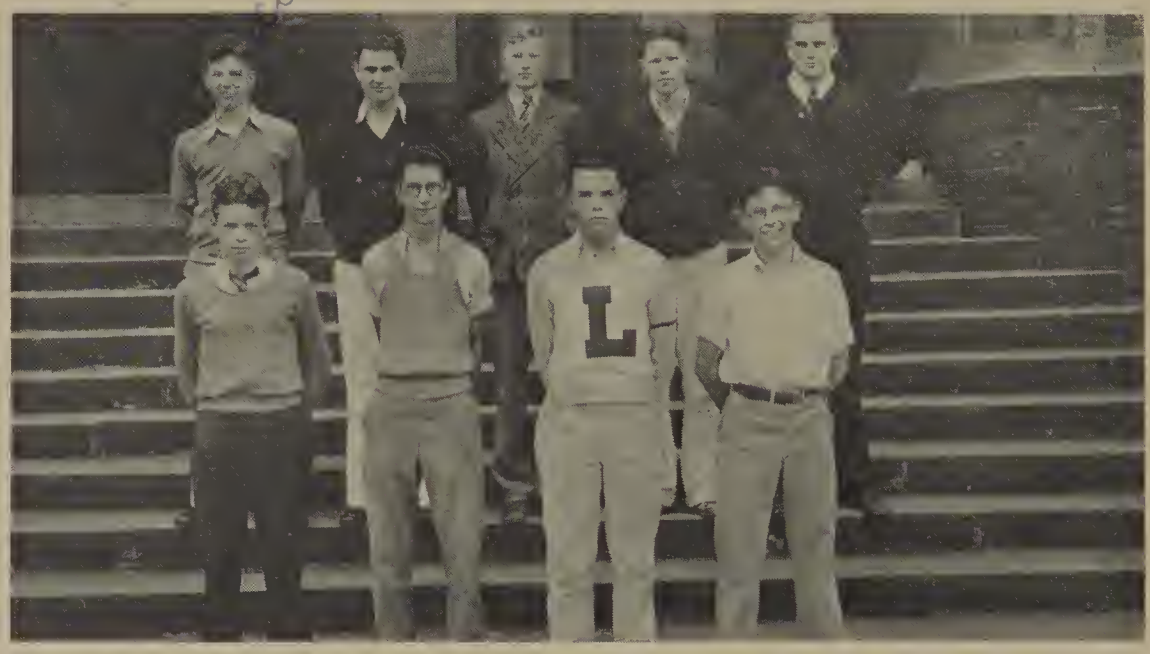
As yet, the Lincoln golf team has never won a city championship. This year's squad, however, is one of the strongest the Lynx have ever presented. The 1933 outfit will be built around three veterans and will be out to annex the first golf championship for Lincoln.



TENNIS

Row 1—Kenyon Coryell, Albin Soderlind, Gaylen Blackford, Don Picht. Row 2—Herb Baumgartner, Carol Beamer, Joel Anderson, Jim Pettifer, Elmer Sandell.

TENNIS

So far the Lynx racketwielders seem to be on the road toward the Championship, having won their first two matches of the season from Queen Anne and Franklin.

The team in order of their ability consists of Elmer Sandell, Gaylen Blackford, Don Picht, Herb Baumgartner, Carol Beamer, Kenyon Coryell, and Jim Pettifer as alternate.

The chances for this year have been strengthened by the return of Elmer Sandell and Gaylen Blackford, holders of the Doubles title. Sandell and Blackford both have a very fast serve. Sandell's forehand and backhand is exceptionally strong and deceptive, with Blackford relying on his forehand and accurate backhand drives. These qualities are gaining many points for Lincoln.

Carol Beamer is the other letterman. So far, Beamer is playing a bang-up game, although he has been slow in getting started. He has a very fast forehand stroke which merits him as a good player.

Don Picht seems to be an up and coming star and will be a great factor in next year's squad.

Herb Baumgartner, the fellow who gave up track for his tennis game, is working nicely at number four position.

Kenyon Coryell is a very steady and consistent player and can always be relied on for points.

Jim Pettifer, although an alternate, shows a promising game and will be expected to garner points for the squad.

As it is so early in the season, it is difficult to judge the ability of the players before this page goes to press.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

The first intramural event of the school season was opened when teams representing various rolls opened the fall basketball league in the boys' gym. The director of intramural athletics, Mr. A. J. Selzer, appointed Al Burink, manager, and supervised the games.

From the start it looked as though Blough L-P was a strong contender for the championship; and the dope was not upset, for once. In the final game between Blough L-P and Claus, the former easily won. It was the privilege of Claus to play the undefeated Blough L-P team after they had nosed out Muckleston in a 14-13 thriller in which the game was decided on a long field goal by Carl Wittig in the last second of play. The players were Bill Nelson, Ken McClelland, Chuck Neth, Peter Petterson, Neil McDougal, and Roger Morris.

On November 6 the third annual intramural marathon around Green Lake was won by Marion March, who clipped twenty-seven and two-fifths seconds off the standing record for the distance. The next runner, Doug Wilson, was quite a distance behind Marion when the latter crossed the line but came in a good second at that. He was followed by Marion Haight, Gordon Patterson, and Hugh Staffey, in their respective order. Sixteen entered the race, and all finished.

The managers of this activity deserve much credit. They were Don Gilson and Lyle McKnight. It was their duty to time the runners on practice runs and keep a record of the number of times per week each runner turned out.

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS AND MARATHON

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Golf

To take advantage of Seattle's "year-around-golf" Lincoln holds its yearly individual tournaments during the fall months.

One match of eighteen holes was to be played each week, and the winner of the contest was to have the custody of the Brown Trophy for one year.

The conclusion saw Center Case stop Bob Holbrook's rally for a repeated victory by one point.

Tennis

Some of the players who deserve mention in the tennis tournament were Ken Coryell, Gaylen Blackford, Herb Baumgartner, Jimmy Pettifer.

Jim Sisk reached the finals by defeating Gaylen Blackford 11-9, 6-1.

In the finals between Jim Sisk and Elmer Sandell, each took a set apiece. Continuing the match the following night, the set see-sawed back and forth until the twenty-fourth game, when Jim managed to break through Elmer's serve to win the set, 12-10, and the match. Both players had the game at point set numerous times but could not break through. There was little to choose between the two players.

Soccer

One of the less prominent but still popular sports of the day is soccer. The league was composed of four teams captained by Arnold Goett, Bill Thornton, Red Stewart, and Carl Eckard. The fact that many boys turned out signifies that the season was a success. Arnold Goett's squad finished with the championship.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

THE girls who participate in after-school athletics are the girls who really enjoy them. The girls want to win big "L's" eventually, but first they must earn five hundred points. For making a first team in hockey, soccer, volleyball, basketball, or baseball, one hundred points are awarded. The same number of points is given to each section champion in tennis, and twenty points are awarded for each hike attended. If the girls have not earned enough points for a big "L" by the end of the year, they are given one numeral for each one hundred points they have made.

An athletics council manages the girls' athletics. This year it was composed of Catharine Hynd as freshman representative; Jane Robinson, sophomore; Pearl Eschwig, junior; Leila Stanford, senior; and Grace Clark, president of the Big "L" Club. The council was assisted by Miss Pauline Thompson and Miss Katharine Wolfe.

The different athletics the girls take part in are baseball, basketball, soccer, volleyball, hockey, tennis, hikes, and golf. Each type of game has one or two of the girls as managers. This year the managers were Cicelia Grosso for volleyball; Katherine Walter and Peggy Wilson, baseball; Betty Robinson and Patricia

HOCKEY

Hagman, baseketball; Frances Puckett, hockey; Jane Hemenway, tennis; Florence Moore, hiking; Leila Stanford, track; and Helen Basel, soccer. Each manager is given one hundred points toward her big "L."

The teams are chosen in the fairest manner possible. Many more girls turn out from each class than can be used on one team. In order to choose the best players for the main team a number of teams from each class are chosen. These teams play a preliminary tournament. Then the captains of each of the teams choose one team to represent the class. The teams play a series of games among themselves, and the one winning the most games is automatically the school champion. In some games, basketball for example, two series of games are played. Then in tennis a spring tournament and a fall tournament are played. The juniors and sophomores tied for the volleyball championship; the sophomores were basketball champions; and the seniors, hockey champions.

There are a number of advantages coming from the girls' system of athletics, but the most valuable one is that it gives every girl a chance to turn out and play the different games even if the girls cannot be on the teams. The plan of having a preliminary tournament makes it possible for all the girls to play. The girls themselves are enthusiastic about participating, because it offers a profitable form of recreation and also because the girls always make a large number of friends among themselves.

GIRLS' CLUB

THE Girls' Club of Lincoln High is as necessary to the mechanism of the school organization as an arm or leg is necessary to the anatomy of a human being. This mechanism is large and complex, incorporating into its whole, hundreds of parts.

The purpose of the Club is threefold: friendship, democracy, and simplicity; while throughout, the idea of service is maintained. This service is secured through numerous activities, a few of which are the distribution of baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas, visits and donations to the Mother Ryther Home and Firlands, and the gathering of food and clothing.

The Girls' Club is active and thriving, as may be seen by the swarms that flock to its office. It is open to everyone, offering to each girl great possibilities for leadership, coöperation, and teamwork.

MINUTE GIRLS

THE Minute Girls represent all the girls in the school. They are elected in the roll rooms and attend the Minute Girls' meetings, which are held whenever the Girls' Club officers and Cabinet have special messages for the girls. Then the Minute Girls carry the instructions back to their rolls. They collect dues and also advertise the social events that the Girls' Club gives.

USHER FORCE

ONLY the girls who fulfill the requirements for the Usher Force can serve. The requirements for positions are that the girls must be seniors and must belong to the Honor Society. Usually twenty girls make up the Usher Force.

This year the girls were especially busy. They ushered at the senior play, the Christmas concert, and the opera. At commencement, the junior girls who were members of the Honor Society took the places of the graduating seniors.

TRIPLE "L"

TRIPLE "L" CLUB

The ideal of the Triple "L" Club is to serve the school. Since its organization in 1927 the club has certainly helped the school in numberless ways.

Whenever any school organization, such as the Girls' Club, the faculty, or the Parent-Teachers' Association, asks the members for assistance, it is given quietly and efficiently. For instance, each period of the day the girls collect absence slips from the classrooms, and during the lunch periods they keep the lunchroom in order. The members always usher at Girls' Club assemblies and assist the Girls' Club Cabinet at the mixers.

The Triple "L" girls give their aid at special affairs, such as serving at the Father and Son Banquet. When the English teachers of the city met at Lincoln, the girls acted as hostesses in rooms of teachers who were unable to be present. At Back-to-School Night the Triple "L" girls sold the Parent-Teachers' Association's cook books and helped the visitors to find the rooms they were looking for. These examples show how the members of the club are serving the school.

The success of the past year was due in part to the direction of the following officers: Louise Finical, president; Mildred Gottschamer, vice-president; Janice Walker, secretary-treasurer; and especially to the sponsor, Miss Alice Miles.

GIRLS' BIG "L" CLUB

GIRLS' BIG "L" CLUB

THE girls of the Big "L" Club are those who have won at least five hundred points in first or second team competition in volleyball, basketball, hockey, baseball, track, or on hikes. If they fulfill the scholastic requirements of the club and their sportsmanship is recommended, they are voted into the club. Approximately fifty-five girls belong to Big "L."

The Big "L" Club brings together the girls interested in athletics. It sponsors after-school and Saturday hikes that are very popular. For the benefit of the club the members sold apples last winter. During the lunch periods they were on sale, and the school was glad to buy them.

An annual social event in which the Big "L" girls participate is the play-day held at the University of Washington and sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. Another event is the all-city athletic conference. This year the meeting was a breakfast at Cleveland High School.

It is interesting to note that a number of girls who have already earned one big "L" are working toward others. Several members have four. Also, the membership of the Big "L" Club has increased so much lately that it is almost twice that of two years ago. This shows the real enthusiasm the girls have for athletics.

Miss Katharine Wolfe and Miss Pauline Thompson, faculty sponsors of Big "L," have given invaluable assistance.

BOYS' CLUB

Lincoln's Boys' Club, one of the school's oldest student institutions, is a powerful influence for good, because every boy in Lincoln is automatically a member without the payment of dues.

This year has been a particularly successful and harmonious year, largely due to the efforts of Mr. Altman, sponsor, who through his faithful work and untiring efforts has made this year one of the most valuable in the history of the Boys' Club.

Bob McKinstry, president, has been a fitting leader, exemplifying through his school loyalty, industry, scholarship, and athletic accomplishments the finest example of citizenship in Lincoln High.

He was associated in this office of preisdent with Bruce Bretland, vice-president, and Howard Ellis, secretary.

LYNX CLUB

LINCOLN's chief service organization, the Lynx Club, is composed of thirty boys, ten juniors and twenty seniors, who seem outstanding in their scholarship, their leadership in school activities, and their good character.

Since its beginning six years ago the Lynx Club has ever aided in the betterment of the school and helped in the various enterprises undertaken and sponsored here. Each wearer of the black, red-trimmed sweater holds himself in readiness to assist in school service; every boy must do his share.

Under the leadership of Mr. Altman, boys' advisor, and Eugene Scott, president for the fall semester, boys ushered during pep assemblies, extended useful aid at Lincoln's annual "Back to School" night, and assisted at basketball games. At various times during the semester many spoke in roll rooms in regard to various school problems. Other officers then were Art Church, vice-president, and Merwin Cole, secretary-treasurer.

In the spring other tasks were put to the organization; new duties were given many. A lunchroom patrol was organized. Boys were delegated to keep students from walking on newly-planted school-grounds to protect shrubs from injury.

Officers this spring were George Hughes, president; Jack Medica, vice-president, and Fred Weingarten, secretary-treasurer.

HI-Y

THE Lincoln Hi-Y is an outside organization which is organized for "the creation of better fellowship and better spirit between the school and the community," the principles of the Y. M. C. A.

Every year a number of social events are sponsored by the Hi-Y, and this year it has been especially active. Two skating parties, one on the ice and the other at a roller rink, a dance, swimming party, and other social events were equally successful. Much amusement was caused by the public initiation of new members.

The outstanding achievement of school service was the distribution of the 1932 basketball schedules, which gave the position and names of the players and managers.

Officers were elected for both semesters. Those for the first semester were Bruce Bretland, president; Earl Jones, vice-president; John Lewis, secretary; Ken McClellan, treasurer. The second semester's leaders were Bill Fielding, president; Bud Brown, vice-president; Arnold Faust, secretary; Bill Lawrance, treasurer.

The meetings were held at the Lincoln Sweets Shop or more familiarly, the Beanery, where the business was cared for, and a good dinner was always served. Interesting programs, which consisted of talks, plays, and an open discussion of interesting topics, were usually presented.

BOYS' BIG "L" CLUB

The Big "L" Club, organized in 1921, is one of the largest organizations of Lincoln High School and is sponsored by Mr. Altman, the boys' advisor. It is made up of those boys who have won their major letter in track, football, basketball, baseball, tennis, or golf and have applied for admission to the club and have been accepted.

The object of the club is the maintenance of school spirit and the promotion of scholarship among the athletes. The club also serves the very excellent purpose of encouraging the boys of Lincoln High School to turn out for athletics.

The Big "L" program includes such tasks as the scoring of the basketball and football games, serving at dinners, and guarding the doors at the assemblies. Every year the Big "L" Club holds a public initiation of new members, whose antics at these times occasion much amusement in the school circles.

Officers were elected for both semesters. Those who were elected for the first semester were Earl Jones, president; Bob McKinstry, vice-president; Howard Ellis, secretary-treasurer. Those who were elected for the semester from February to June were Howard Ellis, president; Dave Bossert, vice-president; Marion March, secretary-treasurer.

The club had forty-eight members, including Bill Nollan, the Lincoln coach. Mr. Nollan is a Lincoln grad and was captain of the basketball team of 1921.

FACULTY TEAM

THE LINCOLN BOWLERS

ANSWERING the urge for greater activity along athletic lines, representatives from each school met last fall and formulated a High School Teachers' Bowling League, consisting of twelve teams.

The end of the season found Lincoln's "A" squad proud possessor of the beautiful 18 inch trophy which is to be given to the annual victor of the league. Lincoln also placed four players in the high ten of final bowling averages; they were Mr. Claus, Mr. Nollan, Mr. Liston, and Mr. Robinson.

MOTOR AND FIRE SQUADS

LINCOLN's motor squad, under Don Casey, rendered incalculable school service throughout the past year. Athletes were taken to and from practices and games. When urgent cases presented themselves, such as a student's serious illness in school, one of the boys with a car was instantly on call to meet the situation. Any boy with any kind and condition of car who was willing to use it for school purposes was eligible for the squad. Merit key points and compensation for gas were given members.

Another body, much similar in nature to the traffic group, is the fire squad. Juniors and seniors, chosen by Carl Brakel, fire-chief, and Mr. Luther Altman, Boys' Advisor, saw to the rapid emptying of the building at the time of the periodic fire drills, which took place twice every month.

The business of the fire squad, like that of the traffic squad, was to keep the traffic moving smoothly and quickly; but unlike the traffic squad, they had to see that the traffic moved at the fastest speed possible.

The heads of the various squads accredited the great efficiency which they have attained during the two semesters of this year to their various sponsors. The Boys' Advisor, Mr. Altman, of the science department, was the sponsor of the fire squad, the motor squad, and the traffic squad; while Mr. Muckleston, of the industrial arts department, sponsored the ticket force; and Mr. Wassburg, of the science department, was the sponsor of the stage force.

STAGE FORCE AND TICKETS

TRAFFIC SQUAD

STAGE AND TRAFFIC SQUADS

Because of its good work in speeding up the flow of traffic in Lincoln's crowded stairways between periods of the day, the traffic squad has won for itself the distinction of being at once the most useful and certainly the most indispensable of all the school's organizations. The group has done more toward keeping the machinery of the school running smoothly than all the notices read students in regard to hall regulations; and directors, aware of this, award merit points to all members each semester. The boys were led by Howard Ellis this year.

Members of the squad are placed at each stairway between periods and before school for the purpose of keeping the traffic flowing smoothly and in the right direction.

Two other most valuable squads which were chosen from the student body at Lincoln were the ticket sellers and the stage force. The ticket sellers were the group that handled accommodations for all of the competitive games and that took charge of the seat sales for the various presentations of the student body, such as the senior play, the opera, and other minor affairs.

The stage force was the group which was responsible for the arrangements of the scenery for the various other activities and for the painting and decorating of the scenery. The handling of the props was accomplished by a group of boys, while the decorating and art work was in charge of the girls.

DEBATE

DEBATE

Almost champions! That was the standing of the Lincoln debate team at the end of the present year. Although Lincoln has won more debates in the last five years than any other school in Seattle, it has, for the past four years, been in second place. The actual score for the three highest schools in debates won was Lincoln 26, Queen Anne 23, and Cleveland, twice champions, 21.

Much of the success of the Lincoln debate team has been due to the very able coaching received from the Lincoln faculty. The coaches for this year were Earl Cochran and Harry Fitch, venerable veterans of the city debates.

The all-city debate question which was argued for the first semester was "Resolved: That Industry should adopt the five-day week."

During the first semester Lincoln had two affirmative speakers and one negative speaker. The affirmative speakers were Bob Andrews and Wilfred Downs. Hazel Telquist was the questioner. The negative team was composed of Bertil Granberg and Merwin Cole.

The question for debate during the second semester was "Resolved: That cities of the first and second class in the state of Washington adopt the city manager plan of government." The affirmative team was composed of John Williamson and Hazel Telquist. The negative team was Bob Andrews and Merwin Cole.

TOTEM WEEKLY

The Lincoln Totem is now one of the biggest school papers in Seattle, having increased from six columns to seven, November, 1931.

Students in the Journalism I class solicit advertisements and practice news-writing in order to prepare for the time when they, as Journalism II students, will edit the paper.

Each semester the Journalism II class carries out a special project. During the first semester this year a Lincoln edition of the Seattle "Post-Intelligencer" was published; during the second semester a special April Fool's day edition was issued.

The aim of the Totem staff is to produce a school paper that will keep each student in touch with the activities of the rest of the student body and the faculty; in brief, a paper of the students, for the students, and by the students.

Students who served as editors this year are Mary Marble, Alexis Russell, and Bob Crane.

Students who took Journalism II an extra semester without credit and served as associate editors are Bob Baker, Fred Merideth, and Jim Rogers.

FRENCH CLUB

La première réunion du Cercle Français a eu lieu le 3 Novembre. Les officiers qu'on a élus étaient Carmen Smith, présidente; Mary Pindell, vice-présidente; Richard Dahlager, secrétaire; Helen Latimer, trésorière. Comme tèmoignage de sa bonne volonté envers le club français et pour remercier les membres de l'honneur qu'il avait reçu, chaque officier a dû faire un petit discours en français. Il fut décidé pour cette année de limiter le nombre des membres; pour être sociétaire du cercle, il fallait avoir étudié le français au moins trois semestres.

Le 17 Novembre nous avons eu le première réunion sociale. Plusieurs élèves ont lu les lettres qu'ils avaient reçues de leurs correspondants en France. Quelques scènes de "La Poudre aux Yeux" furent presentées par plusieurs élèves de la classe de Mlle. Wiegman. Pour conclure le programme nous avons chanté des chansons françaises, et le comité a servi des rafraîchissements.

A la réunion de Noël le 8 Décembre plusieurs élèves de la classe de Mlle. Wiegman ont joué une petite comédie, intitulée "La Faim est une grande Aventure." Miss McKee, qui a passer plusieurs mois en Europe a eu la bonté de raconter ses expériences en France et ses impressions sur la vie et les moeurs des Français. Les membres ont chanté des cantiques de Noël, après quoi Winfield Noah, jouant le rôle du Père Noël a distribué des cadeaux. On a servi les rafraîchissements.

Le 18 Janivier nous avons eu le plaisir de recevoir les membres du Cercle Latin. Quatre élèves ont discuté la question: "Le Français est plus important que le Latin." Ce débat fut traité d'une manière plus ou moins amusante sans faire naître aucun ressentiment de la part des adversaires. Un jeu de proverbes latins et français évoqua beaucoup d'intérêt pour tous les assistants. La session fut terminée avec des rafraîchissements.

Le 15 Février nous avons élu les officiers pour le nouveau semestre. On a élu Richard Dahlager, présidente; John Canfield, vice-présidente; Katharine Guthmuller, secrétaire; et Winfield Noah, trésorier.

Quelques modifications des règlements du cercle furent proposées et d'autres questions importantes furent discutées.

A la réunion du 9 Mars, le Professeur Chessex de l'Universite de Washington a eu la bonté de faire un discours en français. Sa bonne humeur et ses propos intéressants ont contribué à rendre cette réunion une des meilleures de l'année. Les nouveaux officiers ont voué leur intérêt et leur loyauté et ont promis de faire leur mieux pour le progrès du Cercle.

A la réunion du 4 Mar, Madame Nicholis de l'école Saint Nicholas a eu la bonté de nous faire un discours en français. Madame Nicholas a parlé de la vie des jeunes gens français, surtout de leur vie scolaire. Madame Nicholas nous a apporté de beaux affiches de chemin de fer pour décorer nos salles de classes. Mlle. Marjorie Byram a chanté deux belles chansons françaises.

A la dernière réunion du juin nous avons eu le plaisir de recevoir les élèves des premières classes de français, on a joué et chanté et tout le monde s'est bien amusé.

Richard Dahlager, président a remercié les comités à qui est dû le succès de nos réunions de cette année, et il a exprimé son appréciation aux membres pour leur intérêt et leur coopération.

L'enthousiasme et l'intérêt manifesté par les membres, donne à croire que les réunions vont continuer aussi réjouissantes que toutes les précédentes.

Secretaire.

SPANISH CLUB

El Club Español de la Escuela Superior de Lincoln llegó a ser una de las organizaciones más interesantes y activas de la escuela. El club fué fundado con el objeto de fomentar entre los estudiantes, mayor interés por el idioma y las costumbres españolas. Por el club tendremos más oportunidades de informarnos de la cultura y las costumbres de los países latino-americanos, y tambien de establecer mejor entendimiento entre ellos y nosotros.

Había una gran variedad en los programas de las sesiones del club. De vez en cuando cantaron varios socios del club canciones típicamente españolas. Había también música por los señores Jack Shallow y Don Davidson.

Entre las muchas representaciones dramáticas de los varios programas del club las cuales podemos recordar con orgullo, fueron:—"El Joven Médico Infortunado," "La Lavandera de Napoleón," "Los Tres Osos," "Los Dos Burros," "Las Gafas," y "Uno de Ellos Debe Casarse."

Los personajes de las representaciones dramáticas principales fueron:

El Joven Médico Infortunado:

El doctor Cantante . . . . . Keith Bledsoe
El cartero . . . . . Bob McClaire
La Señora . . . . . Katherine Guthmuller

La Lavandera de Napoleón:

La lavandera . . . . . Elizabeth Taylor
Napoleón . . . . . Russell Larson

Los Tres Osos:

El oso grande . . . . . Mary Peters
El oso mediano . . . . . Ruth Holden
El oso pequeño . . . . . Helen Rhuddy
La niña . . . . . Emma Gjerde

Los Dos Burros:

El padre . . . . . Bob McClaire
El hijo . . . . . Joe Stong
El profesor . . . . . Wendell Ulberg

Las Gafas:

El óptico . . . . . Wendell Ulberg
La Señora . . . . . Marlieta Marble
El rústico . . . . . Robert Steele

Uno de Ellos Debe Casarse:

Tía María . . . . . Mary Ellen Forester
Luisa . . . . . Mary Ellen Follestad
Diego . . . . . Ralph Smith
Juan . . . . . Keith Bledsoe

Entre las distinguidas personas que nos hicieron el favor de hablarnos fué el señor Aníbal Vargas de Colombia, profesor de español en la Universidad de Wáshington, quien nos habló de una manera interesantísima sobre la vida del héroe sudamericano, Simón Bolívar.

También esperamos oír a la señorita Agnes Quigley, quien nos hablará de su "Año en España." Especialmente nos describira "La Semana Santa" en Sevilla, una de las ciudades más fascinadoras de España. Esperamos que la señorita Quigley pueda hablarnos a nuestra reunión del mes de abril.

Presidente . . . . . Ernest Davis
Vice-Presidenta . . . . . Mary Ellen Forester
Secretaria . . . . . Elizabeth Taylor
Tesorera . . . . . Katherine Johnson

Fué por medio de la amable cooperación de estas personas que logró tener el club un gran éxito. Las consejeras de la facultad fueron la señorita Adelaide Fischer y la señorita Elizabeth Bush.

LATIN CLUB

LATIN CLUB

The Lincoln Latin Club is composed of two separate branches: the Senior Latin Club, organized in January, 1931; and the Junior Latin Club, organized in February, 1931.

The object of the club is to promote a friendship among the members and to further the study of Latin in Lincoln High.

Two sets of officers were elected for the two clubs; the officers of the Senior Club are Bill Payne, president; Lois Hess, vice-president; Maxine Martin, secretary-treasurer; Hazel Telquist, program chairman. The officers of the Junior Club are Mildred Lokken, president; Patricia Buckly, vice-president; Howard Hardy, secretary; Pearl Eschwig, treasurer. The Latin Club sponsor is Miss Hendricks.

One of the most interesting of the exhibits in the show case in the main hall was sponsored by the Latin Club. Among the objects shown were busts of Virgil, Cicero, and Caesar. Roman implements of war and other objects of interest were also exhibited.

The meetings were unusually interesting this year. Professor Side of the University of Washington gave a lantern slide exhibit of Rome and Greece, and Miss Weaver of Lincoln High gave a very interesting travel talk on Rome. Mr. Fitch, who has been a member of the Lincoln faculty since the school was opened in 1907, gave a talk on the history of Latin clubs at Lincoln.
